DIGEST

SB 105 Engrossed | 2024 Regular Session | Seabaugh

Present law provides relative to the crime of possession of firearms or carrying a concealed weapon by a person convicted of certain felonies.

Present law requires a person convicted of attempting to violate present law to be imprisoned at hard labor for not more than seven and one-half years and fined between $500 and $2,500.

Proposed law requires a person convicted of attempting to violate proposed law to be imprisoned at hard labor for at least one year but not more than seven and one-half years and fined between $1,000 and $5,000.

Present law requires that a violation of present law be deemed a crime of violence if the person violated present law while committing a crime of violence and also has a prior conviction for committing a crime of violence.

Proposed law requires that a violation of present law be deemed a crime of violence if the person either violated present law while committing a crime of violence or has a prior conviction for committing a crime of violence.

Proposed law otherwise retains present law.

Effective August 1, 2024.
