EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

This measure would increase state general fund expenditures by approximately $116,000 relating to the cost of the election. According to the Secretary of State officials, this cost is limited to the placement of this constitutional amendment on the November 7, 2006 ballot and publishing the proposed constitutional amendment in the 64 official parish journals. Since the proposed legislation would be on the ballot of the statewide general election there should be no other costs, such as drayage costs, associated with this election.

This measure may decrease local government expenditures by at least $200,000 for the costs to bill and collect the tax. Assuming the constitutional amendment is approved by the state's voters, the City of New Orleans would not have to incur the direct cost of administering this tax, which includes printing, mailing, and collection costs.

REVENUE EXPLANATION

This measure will decrease local governmental revenues by approximately $5.2 million a year assuming the state's voters approve the constitutional amendment.

According to a city official, in 2004, the city collected $5.2 million for this tax and the collection rate was 67% (approximately $7.8 million billed). In addition, collections increased by 16% from 2003's collections ($4.5 million). For the purpose of this fiscal note, we are assuming that collections will remain relatively stable for the next five years.
