

RÉSUMÉ DIGEST

ACT 668 (SB 389)

2018 Regular Session

Claitor

Prior law (C.Cr.P. Art. 875.1, as enacted by Acts 2017, No. 260, effective August 1, 2018) provided that, beginning August 1, 2018, prior to ordering the imposition of any financial obligation, the court shall determine whether payment in full of the aggregate amount of all the financial obligations imposed upon the defendant would cause substantial financial hardship to the defendant or his dependents.

New law provides that if, at termination or end of a suspension term, any court ordered restitution remains outstanding, the unpaid balance is to be reduced to a civil money judgment in favor of the person owed restitution which may be enforced as provided for execution of judgments. Requires the clerk to send notice of this judgment to the last known address of the person to whom restitution is ordered to be paid.

In addition, new law provides that these provisions of prior and new law are effective August 1, 2019.

Prior law (C.Cr.P. Art. 894.4, as amended and reenacted by Acts 2017, No. 260, effective August 1, 2018) prohibited the court from extending the period of probation for the purpose of collecting any unpaid court costs, fines, costs of prosecution, and other monetary costs associated with probation. If there is unpaid victim restitution, prior law authorized the court to extend probation one time and only by a period of six months for the purpose of monitoring collection of unpaid victim restitution if the court finds on the record by clear and convincing evidence that the court's temporary ongoing monitoring would ensure collection of unpaid restitution more effectively than other collection methods provided in prior law.

New law removes these provisions of prior law and provides that probation shall neither be extended nor revoked based solely upon the defendant's inability to pay fines, fees, or restitution to the victim.

New law provides that these provisions of new law are effective August 1, 2019.

Prior law (C.Cr.P. Art. 893) provided that when a defendant is placed on probation for a first, second, or third conviction of a noncapital felony or for a fourth DWI conviction when certain conditions are met, the period of probation shall be specified and shall not be more than three years.

New law amends prior law to provide that the period of probation shall not be more than three years, except as provided by certain provisions of new law which provide as follows:

- (1) Requires the supervising probation officer to submit to the court a compliance report whenever requested by the court or when it appears necessary to have the court make a determination with respect to "earned compliance credits", modification of any terms or conditions of probation, termination of probation, revocation of probation, or any other purpose proper under prior or new law.
- (2) Provides that after a review of the compliance report, if it is the recommendation of the division of probation and parole that the defendant is in compliance with the conditions of probation, in accordance with the compliance report, the court shall grant "earned compliance credit" for the time, absent a showing of cause for a denial.
- (3) Authorizes the court to terminate probation at any time as "satisfactorily completed" upon the final determination that the defendant is in compliance with the terms and conditions of probation.
- (4) Provides that if the court determines that the defendant has failed to successfully complete the terms and conditions of probation, the court may extend the probation for a period not to exceed two years, for the purpose of allowing the defendant additional time to complete the terms of probation, additional conditions, the extension of probation, or the revocation of probation.
- (5) Provides that, absent extenuating circumstances, the court shall, within ten days of receipt of the compliance report, make an initial determination as to the issues presented and shall transmit the decision to the probation officer and shall disseminate the decision to the defendant, the division of probation and parole, and the prosecuting agency within 10 days of receipt.

- (6) Provides that the parties shall have 10 days from receipt of the initial determination of the court to seek an expedited contradictory hearing for the purpose of challenging the court's determination. If no challenge is made within 10 days, the court's initial determination shall become final and shall constitute a valid order of the court.

Prior law provided for a system of structured, administrative sanctions that are imposed for technical violations of probation and parole.

With regard to probation, new law removes both of the following from prior law:

- (1) The provision which prohibits incarceration for lowest-tier violations including the first positive drug test and the first or second violation for the following:
 - (a) Association with known felons or persons involved in criminal activity.
 - (b) Changing residence without permission.
 - (c) Failure to initially report as required.
 - (d) Failure to pay restitution for up to three months.
 - (e) Failure to report as instructed.
 - (f) Traveling without permission.
 - (g) Occasion of unemployment and failure to seek employment within ninety days.
- (2) The provision which prohibits incarceration for first or second violations of alcohol use or admission, except for defendants convicted of operating a vehicle while intoxicated; defendants convicted of domestic abuse battery committed by one family member or household member against another; defendants convicted of battery by one dating partner against another; or defendants convicted of violation of a protective order issued against the defendant to protect a family member, household member, or a dating partner.

New law (C.Cr.P. Art. 895.6 and R.S. 15:574.6.1) further provides that the prior law requirement that a defendant consent to the imposition of administrative sanctions for probation or parole violations does not apply to the rescinding of earned compliance credits as an administrative sanction.

Prior law (C.Cr.P. Art. 900) provided that when a defendant's sentence is suspended and the defendant is placed on probation, if the defendant's probation is subsequently revoked, the defendant shall serve the sentence suspended, with or without credit for the time served on probation at the discretion of the court.

Prior law further provided that in the event of revocation for a defendant placed on probation for the conviction of an offense other than a crime of violence or a sex offense, the defendant shall serve the sentence suspended with credit for time served on probation.

New law removes this provision of prior law which required a defendant, whose probation has been revoked, to receive credit for time served while on probation for a non-violent, non-sex offense, and instead authorizes the court to determine whether the defendant shall receive such credit.

Prior law (C.Cr.P. Art. 900) provided that any defendant who has been placed on probation by the court for the conviction of an offense that is other than a crime of violence or a sex offense, and who commits a technical violation of his probation as determined by the court, will be required to serve certain specified amounts of time without diminution of sentence.

New law retains prior law and adds that for a fourth or subsequent violation the court may order that the probation be revoked, in accordance with certain provisions of prior law.

Prior law provided for a definition of "technical violation" but provided that it does not include absconding from the jurisdiction of the court by leaving the state without the prior approval of the court or the probation and parole officer.

New law amends prior law to provide that the definition of "technical violation" does not include absconding from the jurisdiction of the court regardless of whether the defendant does so by leaving the state.
