11 Comments - 2018

12 (a) The payment of expenses is intentionally limited by this Article to 13 regulate the expense of adoption and curtail the potential for abuse. In the event of 14 extraordinary circumstances that may justify reasonable and necessary expenses not 15 otherwise specifically authorized or excluded by this Article, Subparagraph (B)(9)
 16 allows the court to authorize the payment of such expenses. For example, 17 extraordinary circumstances may include hurricanes or severe flooding that impact 18 the needs of the mother or raise the cost of housing beyond the statutory limit.

19 (b) Paragraph C of this Article is not intended to limit a prospective adoptive 20 parent's cause of action for damages against an adoption agency or attorney for 21 breach of contract, fraud, or other alleged misconduct in connection with an 22 adoption. Rather, it addresses the prospective adoptive parents' right to 23 reimbursement of expenses, which is permitted only in cases in which the mother is 24 not pregnant or in which duplicative expenses are collected from multiple 25 prospective adoptive parents. Reimbursement is not permitted when a mother has 26 exercised her right not to place her child for adoption.
