EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

There is no anticipated direct material effect on governmental expenditures as a result of this measure. Board of Regents (BOR) staff currently performs all administrative functions related to proprietary schools outlined in proposed law; therefore, there will be no workload increase.

REVENUE EXPLANATION

There should be no direct material effect on SGR or the statutorily dedicated Proprietary School Student Protection Fund as a result of this measure. The fee schedule established in proposed law is the same as present law. BOR indicates that there are no proprietary schools that offer associate degree programs, and the expansion of the definition of "proprietary school" to include out-of-state enterprises that provide online-instruction in the state of Louisiana should not increase the number of licensed proprietary schools. However, to the extent that the expansion of the definition of "proprietary school" does expand eligibility to new out-of-state enterprises, additional licenses and assessment fees revenues could accrue to SGR and the Proprietary School Student Protection Fund.
