EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

There is no anticipated direct material effect on governmental expenditures as a result of this measure.

REVENUE EXPLANATION

This bill is directed to the Cajundome in Lafayette. As a public facility, the Cajundome is exempt from paying sales tax on purchases but must charge sales tax on items sold. Prior to 2007, the facility failed to collect or remit sales tax on admission tickets, concessions, etc. The remittance of past due taxes is awaiting a legal ruling. This bill deals only with current and future collections. The Department of Revenue reports audit findings that the Cajundome pays about $400,000 per year in sales tax, split evenly between state and local taxes.

As in current law, the exemption in this bill does not extend to trade shows or events in place primarily to sell goods or property.
