Proposed law creates the Preservation of Religious Freedom Act. The bill provides that government may not substantially burden a person's exercise of religion, even if the burden results from a facially neutral rule or a rule of general applicability, unless it demonstrates that application of the burden to the person is essential to further a compelling governmental interest and is the least restrictive means of furthering that compelling governmental interest. The bill establishes definitions related to the Religious Freedom Act. The legislation applies to all state laws and local ordinances. Burdened parties may assert their violation as a claim or defense in judicial proceedings including injunctive/declaratory relief and actual damages including reasonable attorney fees and costs. The bill describes procedures required to bring an action to court and that provisions of the Louisiana Governmental Claim Act shall apply to the proposed law. Proposed law provides that it shall not affect, interpret, or in any way address that portion of the First Amendment to the U. S. Constitution and provides that the provisions of proposed law are severable. Effective August 15, 2010.
