DIGEST

SB 136 Original

2019 Regular Session

Morrell

Present law prohibits intentional discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin.

Proposed law retains present law but adds wage disclosure to the list of items which cannot be the subject of intentional discrimination.

Proposed law prohibits an employer from intentionally requiring, as a condition of employment, that an employee refrain from inquiring about, discussing, or disclosing the amount of his wages or the wages of another employee.

Proposed law prohibits an employer from intentionally requiring, as a condition of employment, that an employee sign a waiver, nondisclosure, or other document that denies the employee the right to inquire about, discuss, or disclose the amount of his wages.

Proposed law prohibits an employer from intentionally retaliating, disciplining, or discharging, or otherwise discriminating against an employee who has inquired about, discussed, or disclosed his own wages or another employee's.

Proposed law provides that nothing in proposed law will be construed to create an obligation for an employee to disclose his wage information.

Proposed law provides that the protections provided in proposed law do not apply to instances in which an employee who has access to wage information of other employees as a part of the employee's essential job functions discloses the wages of another employee to individuals who do not otherwise have access to the information, unless the disclosure is in response to a complaint or charge or in furtherance of an investigation, proceeding, hearing, or action pursuant to this proposed law, including an investigation conducted by the employer.

Present law provides that it shall not be unlawful discrimination in employment for an employer to apply different standards of compensation or different terms, conditions, or privileges of employment pursuant to a bona fide seniority or merit system, or a system that measures earnings by quantity or quality of production, or any other differential based on any factor other than sex, or to employees who work in different locations, provided that such differences are not the result of an intention to discriminate because of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin.

Proposed law retains present law but requires that factors other than sex and prior salary history must be a bona fide business factor.

Effective August 1, 2019.
