Provides relative to the selling of state-owned surplus movable property

Present law authorizes the commissioner of administration to sell state-owned surplus movable property at public auction and to hire qualified, licensed auctioneers to conduct the sale.

Proposed legislation provides that when both in-state and out-of-state auctioneers submit bids, preference shall be given to in-state auctioneers, provided that the in-state services are equal in quality and do not exceed the cost of out-of-state services by more than 10 percent.

EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

Under current law, the Louisiana Property Assistance Agency (LPAA) may conduct live auctioneering services through a competitive bid process or utilize internet-based auction platforms. LPAA currently conducts sales through an online auction platform; therefore, proposed legislation is not anticipated to have a fiscal impact at this time.

To the extent LPAA utilizes in-person auctioneering services in the future, proposed legislation may increase expenditures if in-state, qualified auctioneers are selected over less expensive out-of-state providers. The frequency of such occurrences is indeterminable. However, any cost differential is limited, as the measure permits selection of in-state services only when the price does not exceed that of out-of-state providers by more than 10 percent, thereby capping the potential impact per transaction.

REVENUE EXPLANATION

There is no anticipated direct material effect on governmental revenues as a result of this measure.
