JURY DUTY EN INCREASE LF EX See Note Page 1 of 2
 Provides relative to jury duty mileage reimbursement

Current law provides that compensation for jurors in criminal cases who attend a criminal trial shall be $25 for each day of attendance in court, and the mileage allowance shall be not less than sixteen cents per mile nor more than the rate in effect for state officials; provides that all jury commissioners are entitled to recover compensation at the rate of $75 per day during the actual attendance at meetings and an additional fee of $0.21 per mile for each mile going to and returning from their place of meeting. Proposed law provides that compensation for jurors in criminal cases who attend a criminal trial shall be $25 for each day of attendance in court and an amount equal to the rate in effect for state officials for each mile necessarily traveled in going to and returning from the courthouse; clarifies current law by providing that the mileage compensation rate for jury commissioners during actual attendance at meeting shall not be less than $0.21 per mile nor more than the rate in effect for state officials ($0.725).

EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

Proposed law will likely result in an indeterminable, but substantial increase in Local Funds expenditures for district courts for compensation for jurors in criminal cases and jury commissioners for attending meetings. Proposed law has the effect of increasing the mileage reimbursement rate for jurors from $0.16 to $0.725 for each mile necessarily traveled in going to and returning from the courthouse and for jury commissioners to no less than $0.21 per mile nor more than $0.725 per mile for each mile going to and returning from their place of meeting. The exact fiscal impact to judicial expense funds for district courts is unknown, as the amount of reimbursement for the number of miles traveled by jurors in criminal cases who attend criminal trials and jury commissioners for meetings attended differs between judicial districts.

For informational purposes, expenses for mileage reimbursements are paid either from the judicial expense funds from each judicial district court, or in some cases, the dedicated source of funding from the district attorney or parish governments in each judicial district. The following are estimates provided by judicial administrators among the 42 judicial district courts regarding what mileage reimbursements for travel both going to and coming from the courthouse would have been, had the mileage reimbursement rate occurred in alignment with the proposed law. The figures below represent the judicial district courts and local parish governments that have been responsive to inquiries regarding the fiscal impact of the proposed law to Local Funds expenditures and is not all-inclusive.

Twenty-Second Judicial District In 2025, the total amount of miles reimbursed for miles necessarily traveled in going to and returning from the courthouse was 195,143. The Twenty-Second Judicial District Court reimburses mileage for this purpose at a rate of $0.16 per mile, which resulted in $31,222.88 in expenditures for mileage reimbursements. If the cost per mile increased (by $0.565 per mile) using the same number of miles reimbursed in 2025 (195,143), the resulting increase would have resulted in total mileage reimbursements of $110,255.80 (195,143 x $0.565).

Twenty-Fifth Judicial District In 2024, the total amount of mileage reimbursement expenses that were paid for seven petit juries is $21,771.75 (with an average mileage reimbursement per jury venire of $3,110.25). Currently, the Twenty-Fifth Judicial District Court pays a mileage reimbursement of $0.58 per mile, meaning that the proposed law's increase would raise the mileage reimbursement by 25%, or on average, $3,887.81 per jury. Considering the number of petit juries convened in 2024 (7), the amount that would have been expended in 2024 is $27,214.67, if the increase in the proposed law would had been in effect in 2024.

Nineteenth Judicial District Court In 2025, the total amount expended for reimbursement for miles necessarily traveled in going to and returning from the courthouse was $39,000, indicating the total amount of miles reimbursed for miles necessarily traveled in going to and returning from the courthouse as 243,750. If the cost per mile increased (by $0.565 per mile) using the same number of miles reimbursed in 2025 (243,750), the resulting increase would have resulted in total mileage reimbursements of $137,718.75 (243,750 x $0.565).

Twenty-Fourth Judicial District Court The current mileage reimbursement rate within the Twenty-Fourth Judicial District Court is $0.625 per mile for miles necessarily traveled in going to and returning from the courthouse. The Twenty-Fourth Judicial District court projects that it will sustain an increase of $31,487 in expenditures for mileage reimbursement for jurors in FY 27, with annual increases of 2% in FY 28 ($32,117), FY 29 ($32,759), FY 30 ($33,415), and FY 31 ($34,082).
