Subject: Extradition as a Condition of Probation or Parole

CRIMINAL/SENTENCING EN INCREASE SG RV See Note Page 1 of 1
 Provides relative to extradition as a condition of probation or parole

Current law provides for conditions of parole and probation, and that one condition of parole may be the waiver of extradition to Louisiana from any jurisdiction in or outside of the United States and the agreement not to contest any effort by any jurisdiction for return to Louisiana; provides for the payment of restitution in cases where the defendant has been placed on probation and the victim or his family has suffered any direct loss of actual cash, any monetary loss pursuant to damage to or loss of property, or medical expense; authorizes the court to order, as a condition of probation, that the defendant pay an amount of money toward certain entities and programs. Proposed law provides that if a parolee is returned from a jurisdiction outside of Louisiana, he is to pay the Department of Public Safety and Corrections - Probation and Parole, for the full cost of extradition based upon his ability to pay as determined by the Committee on Parole; provides that an additional condition of probation may be the waiver of extradition to Louisiana from any jurisdiction in or outside of the United States and an agreement not to contest any effort by any jurisdiction for return to Louisiana; adds the Department of Public Safety and Corrections - Division of Probation and Parole, as a payment recipient for the full cost of extradition in cases where extradition of the defendant is warranted and further permits the court to establish a payment plan based upon the defendant's ability to pay.

EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION
 There is no anticipated direct material effect on governmental expenditures as a result of this measure.

REVENUE EXPLANATION
 The proposed law will result in an indeterminable increase in Self-Generated Revenue in the Department of Public Safety and Corrections-Probation and Parole, to the extent that offenders who are extradited from jurisdictions outside of Louisiana become responsible for paying costs related to their extradition. The proposed law provides that if a parolee is returned from a jurisdiction outside of Louisiana, he is to pay the Department of Public Safety and Corrections - Probation and Parole (DPS&C-P&P), for the full cost of extradition based upon his ability to pay as determined by the Committee on Parole. The proposed law will offset the existing expenditures related to the extradition of parolees returned from a jurisdiction outside of Louisiana under current law. The exact fiscal impact is indeterminable, because it is unknown the number of offenders who will be extradited under the proposed law.

For informational purposes, the average cost incurred by the DPS&C-P&P, notwithstanding costs related to personnel, for extradition is $943.62 per trip. The average cost incurred by the DPS&C-P&P, including costs related to personnel, for extraditions is $1,546 per trip. Thus far, in FY 26 (through 2/05/26), DPS&C-P&P has conducted a total of 251 extraditions, with a total amount expended of $236,849.
