EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

There will be a decrease in SGF expenditures for the Department of Public Safety & Corrections - Corrections Services (DPS&C) to the extent an offender serves less time incarcerated as a result of the proposed law. Any person convicted of a new felony while on parole shall have his parole revoked. Under current law and upon the revocation of parole, an offender shall serve the remainder of his sentence consecutively with the term of imprisonment for the new crime. Under proposed law, the offender shall serve the term of imprisonment for the new crime concurrently with the imprisonment for the violation of parole, unless a consecutive term of imprisonment is directed by the court. Thus, there will be a decrease in costs to DPS&C to the extent any offender serves their time concurrently. There will also be a savings to DPS&C to the extent any offender whose parole is revoked receives credit for time served for good behavior while on parole. Any offender serving less time saves DPS&C $26.39 per offender per day or $9,632 annually in adult local housing and $83.23 per day per offender or $30,379 annually for a state correctional facility.

REVENUE EXPLANATION

There is no anticipated direct material effect on governmental revenues as a result of this measure.
