EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

Proposed law may result in an indeterminable increase in workload in the Office of the Attorney General (AG), to the extent that it establishes a reporting mechanism and investigates claims, sends notices, and follows up on compliance with entities and covered platforms impacted, along with other requirements that are imposed. The proposed law is permissive and allows the AG to conduct investigations and initiate civil actions on behalf of the state to assess civil penalties. The exact impact to workload is indeterminable, because it is unknown the number of instances in which the AG will pursue civil actions against covered platforms in violation of the proposed law.

Proposed law may result in an indeterminable increase in workload in the Nineteenth Judicial District Court (19th JDC), to the extent that the court experiences an increase in civil filings by the Attorney General against covered platforms in violation. The exact impact to workload is indeterminable, because it is unknown the degree to which the 19th JDC will experience an increase in filings with the enactment of the proposed law.

REVENUE EXPLANATION

Proposed law may result in an indeterminable increase in Self-Generated Revenues in the Office of the Attorney General (AG) pursues civil penalties of up to $5,000 per day, with additional penalties up to $10,000 per violation, for those covered platforms that are in noncompliance. The exact fiscal impact is indeterminable, because it is unknown the number of times that the Attorney General will pursue civil actions in the Nineteenth Judicial District Court against those covered platforms that are in violation of the proposed law. Any civil fines collected will be paid to the AG to fund the investigation of cyber crimes involving the exploitation of children.
