EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

The proposed legislation may result in an increase in state general fund expenditures if a defendant is convicted of extortion. The exact fiscal impact of the passage of this legislation is indeterminable, since it adds new threats of extortion to the current list and it is not known how many individuals will be convicted of this crime. However, any offender sentenced to the custody of the Department of Public Safety and Corrections increases expenditures by $55.78 per day per offender in state facilities since existing law provides for hard labor.

According to the Department of Corrections, there are currently 11 offenders incarcerated for extortion with an average sentence of 19.96 years. In 2010 there were 8 admissions with an average sentence of 2.8 years and 4 releases with an average time served of 2.0 years.

For illustrative purposes, for each defendant that is convicted for any of the new types of threats, the cost to incarcerate the offender for a year in a state facility would be $20,360 (1 offender x $55.78 per day x 365 days).

REVENUE EXPLANATION

There is no anticipated direct material effect on governmental revenues as a result of this measure.
