Requires registration of certain appraisers with the Department of Insurance

Proposed law requires persons acting as appraisers for fire and extended coverage to register with the commissioner of insurance and pay an initial fee of $55. Proposed law provides that such registrations shall expire one year from the anniversary date and shall require a request for renewal along with a renewal fee of $50 annually. Proposed law grants to commissioner authority to adopt rules and regulations to carry out and enforce the proposed law.

EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

The proposed law will require appraisers for fire and extended coverage to register with the Louisiana Department of Insurance (LDI). LDI anticipates the requirements for registration will be minimal and filed electronically. Therefore, the department anticipates it can absorb any additional requirements as a result of the proposed law utilizing existing staff.

REVENUE EXPLANATION

The proposed law will require any individual acting as an appraiser for fire and extended coverage to register with the Louisiana Department of Insurance (LDI). LDI is not certain as to the exact number of potential registrants, but estimates range from approximately 200 to 300 statewide. LDI will collect an initial registration fee of $55 along with annual renewal fees of $50. LDI will realize an increase in revenues depending upon the volume of appraisers that register. Revenues may increase approximately $11,000 to $16,500 the first year (200 X $55 = $11,000, 300 x $55 = $16,500), and approximately $10,000 to $15,000 in subsequent years (200 X $50 = $10,000, 300 x $50 = $15,000).
