EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

There is no anticipated direct material effect on governmental expenditures as a result of this measure.

REVENUE EXPLANATION

Proposed legislation repeals certain statutory dedicated funds and provides that the current fund balance of such funds be deposited into the state general fund. According to the State Treasury, as of March 27, 2012, the total fund balance that would be transferred into the state general fund is $66,950, from all funds affected by this bill.

Although the statutory mechanisms that provide for revenues to flow into some of these funds will be changed to flow these revenues into the state general fund, the State Treasury indicates that these funds are either dormant or have never been utilized. To the extent that some revenues were to flow to the state general fund from these retained statutory provisions, these amounts are likely to be minimal.
