Subject: Visitation between a minor child and an incarcerated parent		Analyst: Stephanie C. Blanchard

CHILDRENRE NO IMPACTSee NotePage 1 of 1

Requires certain factors be considered when a court orders visitation between a minor child and an incarcerated parent. (8/1/14)

Present law provides for certain restrictions when the court considers allowing visitation of a minor child with a parent who has a history of perpetrating family violence or who has sexually abused his or her child or children. Proposed law adds that, when the court is considering the supervised visitation of a minor child with an incarcerated parent, the court shall consider the best interest of the child, including certain factors. When visitation between an incarcerated parent and a child has been prohibited by the court, the court subsequently authorizes restricted visitation, as part of such visitation order the court shall include restrictions, conditions and safeguards as are necessary to protect the mental and physical health of the child and minimize risk of harm to the child. Effective August 1, 2014.
