EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

Medicaid expenditures may be impacted by an indeterminable amount to the degree that proposed law has the potential to eliminate some Medicaid provider reimbursements and to the degree that proposed law may change utilization of ophthalmic surgical procedures within the Medicaid population.

Currently, dual eye exams may be billed by Medicaid providers when a patient is referred by an optometrist to an ophthalmologist for surgery, once for the initial optometrist visit and a bundled pre- and post-operative payment to an ophthalmologist. To the degree that proposed law may allow optometrists to perform any Medicaid reimbursable procedure that would be referred to an ophthalmologist under present law, and to the degree that patients allow the optometrist to perform said procedure rather than seek a subsequent appointment and treatment by an ophthalmologist, the state may realize a savings equal to the Medicaid reimbursement rate for an eye exam performed without anesthesia in an amount of approximately $65-$70 per patient. Any savings generated would be dependent upon the number of Medicaid eligible ophthalmic procedures that may be performed by optometrists under the authority of the Louisiana State Board of Optometry Examiners (LSBOE) and proposed law in lieu of those same services being performed by an ophthalmologist. The LFO is unable to provide an estimated number of procedures that would be Medicaid eligible or executed under the framework of this scenario, but the average Medicaid savings would be approximately $65-$70 per patient.

To the degree that utilization of ophthalmic surgeries in the state may increase as a result of expanding eligibility to a new provider group, Medicaid expenditures may realize a corresponding increase. The LFO is unable to determine whether proposed law would impact utilization rates.

NOTE: There are approximately 400 optometrists currently licensed by the LSBOE.
