- On page 6, delete lines 1 through 19 and insert the following:
- 19 "Art. 693. Enclosed estate; voluntary act
- If an estate becomes enclosed as a result of a voluntary act or omission of its owner, the neighbors are not bound to furnish a passage to him or his successors.
- 23 If the owner of an estate deprives himself of access to a public utility
 24 as a result of his voluntary act or omission, his neighbors are not bound to
 25 furnish to him or his successors a servitude for access to that utility.
- Art. 694. Enclosed estate; voluntary alienation or partition

When in the case of partition, or a voluntary alienation of an estate or of a part thereof, property alienated or partitioned becomes enclosed, passage shall be furnished gratuitously by the owner of the land on which the passage was previously exercised, even if it is not the shortest route to the public road or utility, and even if the act of alienation or partition does not mention a servitude of passage.

When in the case of partition, or a voluntary alienation of an estate or of a part thereof, property alienated or partitioned becomes deprived of access to a public utility, a utility servitude shall be furnished gratuitously by the owner of the land on which access to the public utility previously existed, even if it is not the route that otherwise would be selected under Article 692,

The utility servitude shall be limited to the rights reasonably necessary to provide utility services to the dominant estate. The burden imposed on the servient estate shall not be substantially different from that required to provide the utility to an ordinary household. Any new or additional maintenance burden upon the servient estate resulting from the utility servitude shall be the responsibility of the owner of the dominant estate." AMENDMENT NO. 7 On page 6, delete lines 21, 22, and 23, and at the beginning of line 24, change "(b)" to "(a) AMENDMENT NO. 8 On page 6, delete lines 30 through 34 and delete page 7 and insert the following: "Section 2. The provisions of this Act shall not apply to any action brought pursuant."
Art. 696.1. Utility; definition; scope As used in this Section, a utility is a service such as electricity, water, sewer, gas, telephone, cable television, and other commonly used power and communication networks, required for the operation of an ordinary household or business of the kind commonly used in the operation of an ordinary household, whether the service is provided to a household or business. The utility servitude shall be limited to the rights reasonably necessary to provide utility services to the dominant estate. The burden imposed on the servient estate shall not be substantially different from that required to provide the utility to an ordinary household. Any new or additional maintenance burden upon the servient estate resulting from the utility servitude shall be the responsibility of the owner of the dominant estate."
