EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

The Department of Revenue (LDR) will incur costs for computer system modification and testing, tax form redesign, and tax payer inquiries. These costs are typically small for individual tax law changes such as this and are typically absorbed within existing resources until cumulative changes necessitate additional resources be provided.

REVENUE EXPLANATION

By requiring corporate tax filers to add back various deductions to their state tax returns, the bill will result in greater net income subject to Louisiana corporate income taxation, and an increase in net corporate tax receipts. Since the bill is applicable to tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2016, it is likely that some compliant returns will be filed in FY17 (due May 15 2017), and some additional revenue will be received in FY17. However, complex corporate returns are filed with extension and reconciling tax receipts received in the following fiscal year (November). Thus, additional tax receipts in FY17 are likely to be relatively small, with a larger gain in receipts in FY18 as extended returns for tax period 2016 catch-up and a greater share of 2017 tax year returns comply. Fiscal year receipt gains will eventually settle into a normal level reflecting filings by May 15 of each year and filings under extension by November of each year.

The Department of Revenue does not electronically capture the return information necessary to quantify an estimate of the likely fiscal effect of the bill. The Department attempted to manually examine some of the top 200 returns to get a feel for the possible magnitude of effect. That process did not result in information sufficient to generate an estimate of the bill's effect.
