Provides with respect to parole supervision fees

Present law provides for the committee on parole and provides that persons on parole must pay supervision fees set by the Dept. of Public Safety and Corrections. Proposed law changes present law to specify a supervision fee not to exceed $63, which existed in the law prior to 2012 R.S.

EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

There is no anticipated direct material effect on governmental expenditures as a result of this measure.

REVENUE EXPLANATION

There is no anticipated direct material effect on governmental revenues as a result of this measure. The proposed legislation places a $63 cap on the amount of supervision fees that the department can order a parolee to pay. Since the department currently charges $63 per month, this legislation will not have a fiscal impact.
